

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE

Much of the following statistics of the GRAVES Family has been taken from Boltwood's "Genealogy of Hadley (Mass.) Families," 1862; from John C. Graves' "Genealogy of the GRAVES Family in America," vol. I, 1896; and from the Records of the Family of George Graves, of Rutland, Vt. Besides other contributions of the Family, the following relatives have given valuable aid, viz.: Mrs. E. L. Bomeisler, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. Percival Wood Rice, of Cleveland, Ohio. See also an Illustrated Work, in two volumes, by the Misses Graves, of Morristown, N. J., a copy of which is held by the Rev. James Taylor Graves, of Chicago, Ills.; compiled in 1905-6. Another member of the Graves Family, James M. Crafts, deceased, of Orange, Mass., gave much invaluable information and aid for the volume by John C. Graves. This present genealogy (including that of the Collins connection) is as accurate and complete as the spare time of the compiler for several years would permit. He would be grateful for the notice of any mistakes or omissions when found, which may be sent to him at Burlington, or Grand Isle, Vt.

DEDICATION

These small tributes of love and respect to the Families Concerned are humbly dedicated to the memory of our beloved and highly esteemed Parents, GEORGE GRAVES and LUCRETIA ADALINE COLLINS, his wife, of Generation VII, who, I trust look down with favor, from their home in Paradise, upon this sincere attempt of one of their children to perpetuate their honored Names, also in connection with those of their Ancestors and Descendants. "May they all rest in Peace, and Perpetual Light shine upon them."—G. G.

SKETCH OF SOME ENGLISH ANCESTORS

"The family of Graves is one of the most ancient in England. It went in with the Norman army, and its members have been named De Grevis, De Greves, Greve, Grave, Greaves, Greeves, and Graves." It was of French extraction, and its name came probably from the fact that the founders were engravers of progress, and marked as pioneers of civilization. "The family lived in early days in that part of England now known as Counties Lincoln, Nottingham, Derby and York, occupying the northern part of the three first named, and the southern part of York. The first recorded family seat was known as Greves or Greaves, in the parish of Beeley, near Chetsworth, in the northern part of Derbyshire, and a few miles from the southern boundary of York, where the family resided as early as the reign of Henry III (1216-1272). John Greaves, a descendant, in the reign of Elizabeth (1558-1602), became a purchaser of 'Beeley,' a quaint old house with an enclosed court, on the hill above Beeley, and now known as 'Hill top'; and it was occupied as a family seat until about 1664, when it was sold to John, Earl of Rutland.

"In the little church at 'Beeley,' within the altar rails, is a fine flat stone, on which are cut the coat of arms of the Family, the motto 'Superna Quaero,' and the following inscription:

'This marble stone doth presse, but not oppresse the body of John Greaves, of Greaves, Esq., who was always the true son of the Church of England, merciful and charitable to the poor, patient and courageous in tedious sickness, and at length, being full of faith and hope, did exchange this troublesome world for a better, upon the 13th day of October, in the year of our Lord, 1694. Ann, his wife, b. of Geo. Bird, of Stenly Hall, Gent., ob. May 25, 1700.'

"From the visitations of Derbyshire, in the College of Arms, and from MSS. in the British Museum, the descent of the early founders of the family" may be had. "The family had early scattered over the surrounding country."

"At Kings Norton, in Worcester County, in the Chapel, is found a large monument to Sir Richard Greves, Kt., with crest, who died in 1631. From John Grave, of Cleckheaton, Birstall, West Riding of Yorkshire, as early as Edward IV (1461-83), descended several of the most prominent families in Great Britain." One list of early founders contains 14 names (A. D., 1200-1694). Another list has 13 names of the family of Graves, of Mickleton Manor (1461-1855).

"The Graves Family in Ireland was founded by Colonel William Graves, son of Richard Graves (No.) 4, in Mickleton family pedigree," in 1649-50. Of this family was the Very Rev. Richard Graves, b. in 1763, author of a work on the "Pentateuch," and his son, Dr. Robert James Graves, "the famous Dublin physician"; the Rt. Rev. Charles Graves, Bishop of Limerick, b. in 1812; Alfred Percival Graves, the poet, b. in 1846; and others, making nine in the list. Another branch of descendants from Col. Wm. Graves, has seven names, including in one family one son and four grandsons, all admirals; also two other admirals, one of whom was Lord Thomas Graves, Baron of Gravesend, Co. Londonderry, who died in 1802; and three other Lords, his successors. A third branch in Ireland was founded by Richard Graves, descendant of Col. William Graves, having a list of four names.

The above sketch concludes with these words: "The Family in Great Britain has produced men distinguished as Scholars, Divines, Military and Naval Commanders, Barristers, and Business Men, a vigorous and loyal race, but not a self-seeking one; and the same can be said of the American branches."

In the preface of the volume containing the above extract, which volume the author says, is the result of "twenty years' labor," he adds, "The genealogy of but one of the six great families descended from those who settled in this country at a very early day, has been completed, and has been presented in this volume. The other five volumes are nearing completion. (This was in 1896). ["Genealogy of the Graves Family in America, 1896," by J. C. Graves].

COAT OF ARMS, THE CREST, AND MOTTOES

ARMS.

"The distinctive Arms of the Graves Family are: 'Gu. an eagle displayed or, ducally crowned arg.'"

THE CREST.

"A demi-eagle, displayed and erased or, enfiled round the body and below the wings by a ducal coronet arg."

Variations may be found; but they almost always retain as quarterings, the distinctive Arms of the Family, the eagle displayed or.

Various mottoes have been adopted; some used exclusively, and others not.

GRAVES GENEALOGY

Traced from Thomas Graves, I, of Hatfield, Mass., A. D. 1645.

GENERATION I.

THOMAS GRAVES. Founder of this branch of the family in the United States. He came from England before the year 1645, with his wife, Sarah, four sons, and one daughter; all the children having been born in England. Settled in Hartford, Conn., afterward in Hatfield, Mass., and died there in November, 1662, aged over 76 years. He was a farmer. Highly esteemed, as a noble man, and a very worthy citizen of modest claims and deportment. His children's names were Isaac, John, Samuel, Nathaniel, and Elizabeth. His second son was——

GEN. II.

JOHN GRAVES, 1st, of Wethersfield, Conn., and Hatfield, Mass. Married, 1st, Mary, daughter of Lieut. Samuel Smith; 2d, Mary, widow of John Wyatt, of Haddam, Conn. He had ten children mostly by his first wife. He was a civil engineer as well as farmer, a man "of probity and education." He and his brother Isaac, were killed by Indians, Sept. 19, 1677, in King Philip's War. His first child was——

GEN. III.

JOHN GRAVES, 2d, of Wethersfield, Conn., and Hatfield, Mass. By his wife, Sarah, daughter of John White, Jr., he had ten children. He died in 1730, or later. Their second child and first son was——

GEN. IV.

JOHN GRAVES, 3d, of Hatfield, Mass. Born in 1681-82. Married Jemima Graves. Their one child, a son, was——

GEN. V.

NATHAN GRAVES, of Whately, Ms. Lived on "Chestnut Mountain." Married Leonard, daughter of Joseph and Lydia (Leonard) Scott. Had twelve children. He and his six sons were famous hunters and marksmen. A soldier in the French and Indian War in 1757; also, with his son Nathan, in the War of the Revolution. Was a Church deacon. His youngest son was——

GEN. VI.

DANIEL GRAVES, of Whately, Ms., and Ira, Vt. In 1792, married Lois, daughter of Adam and Lois Rice, of Ira, also of Sheldon, Vt. She died January 15, 1849, at her son Harvey's in Louisville, N. Y., aged 81 years; a person of much mental activity and of a very charitable disposition. He died suddenly in Ira, October 11, 1833, aged 64 years. Was captain of militia (?); member of the Vermont Legislature; postmaster; hotel keeper; and carried on several other kinds of business. A prominent and highly respected citizen. They had ten children; four died early (one by drowning); those living to adult age were: Daniel, Jr., Loretta (a much loved daughter), Harvey, George, Edward (who died, a life-long cripple, at his brother George's), Louisa, who married Abner Fenn. All deceased. His fifth son was——

GEN. VII.

GEORGE GRAVES, of Ira, and Rutland, Vt. Born in Ira, Vt., September 26th, 1803 (his father's birth-day). Married December 17, 1826, in Ira, Lucretia Adaline, daughter of Dea. Joseph and Arabilla (Bromley) Collins. She was born in Ira, September 7th, 1806; died in Rutland, June 2, 1879, aged nearly 73 years. At their Golden Wedding in Rutland, in 1876, all their children, with grandchildren, were present, beginning with the Holy Communion. She was a gentlewoman of recognized worth and refinement, of practical piety and having quiet yet effective influence, a lover of her family and her Church and of the good and beautiful. George, her husband, moved to Rutland, with his family in March, 1832. He was very active and successful in several departments of business; as a manufacturer of leather, he received a diploma from the State Fair for twenty of its best varieties; captain of militia; a strong anti-slavery man, and friend of the poor and of education; senior warden and vestryman of Trinity Church, Rutland. He died in Rutland, April 4, 1879 (the 6th Friday in Lent), aged nearly 76 years, and was buried in Evergreen Cemetery in the family lot chosen and prepared by him. They both deserve to be numbered among the Founders of the Graves Family, of which he was a most loyal and ardent member. They had eight children, three dying early in life—Lucretia, Arrabelle, Daniel Heber. These lived to adult years: Gemont, Charles Emmitt (now deceased), George Edgar, Emily (now deceased), Lucy. Their names here follow in the order of their births, being of—

GEN. VIII.

I. GEMONT GRAVES, of Rutland, and Burlington, Vt., (and many other places where he served as clergyman). Born in Ira, Vt., Nov. 8, 1827; (and named in part for his father George, and in part from his native state, Vermont). Fitted for college chiefly by the Rev. Dr. John A. Hicks, of Rutland; entered Middlebury College in 1843, spending some two years there; graduating at Trinity College, Hartford, Ct., in 1849, and receiving afterward the degree of M. A., from both colleges, and that of S. T. D., from Trinity. Graduating from the General Theological Seminary of New York City, he was ordained deacon and priest by Bishop Hopkins, of Vermont, in 1853 and '54. He retired from the active ministry of the Church, in 1901, at the age of 74, and since then has served in Mission or Hospital work, according to needs and opportunities. He has labored chiefly in Vermont, spending his last years mostly in Burlington, Vt. On (St. Simon and St. Jude's day) October 28, 1858, he married Maria, daughter of the Hon. Phinehas and Maria (Cotton) Moulton, of West Randolph, Vt. She was born there, May 27, 1832, and died in Burlington, October 21, 1910, aged nearly 79 years. She was a most faithful wife and mother, of large heart and brilliant mind, devoted to the Church and to the sick and needy. "She hath done what she could." "It shall be spoken of for a memorial of her," (St. Mark 14: 8, 9). They celebrated their Golden Wedding, Oct. 28, 1908, in Burlington, Vt., every child and grandchild being present, and all adults receiving the Holy Communion. Their seven children were as follows: Marie Moulton, Ernest Collins, Lilian Carol, George, Harmon Sheldon, Charlotte Williams, Dudley Chase. COLLINS GENEALOGY Traced down from about A. D. 1600, and as connected with the GRAVES Family since the year 1826, with ancestry from Scituate, or Warwick, R. I.

PREFACE

The following statistics of the COLLINS Family [including some of the BROMLEY Family], were mostly given to the Compiler by his venerable Grandfather, Dea. Joseph Collins, in the summer of 1847, at Rutland, Vt. (and afterward by members of his family); and the record then made has been preserved. Important information of the early Collins settlers has been give by Mr. Otis Ashmore, Supt. of Public Instruction, Savannah, Georgia. Other help has also been obtained from Family sources. Accuracy has been sought, also fullness of detail as far as time and space would allow. Of any mistakes or omissions that may be found, notice would be thankfully received by the Compiler at Burlington, or Grand Isle, Vt.

GEMONT GRAVES, of Generation VIII.

Nov. 8, 1911.

COLLINS GENEALOGY

Traced down from about the year 1600; also more especially, from the year 1826, through the Line of Dea. JOSEPH COLLINS, of Ira, Vt., and North Granville, N. Y.

Some Traditions of the Collins Family

The Collins Family came over from the Port of London, England, in the ship "Abigail," in the year 1635. It is said to have originated in the north of Ireland. It settled first in the town of Scituate, near Providence, R. I. This family, with the Mason Family who came over in the same ship, and the Sherman Family who came over the year after; moved to Nova Scotia, after the war with Canada, where they had lands given them by the Government, and "lived on grindstones and codfish." The Shermans "came back" to Ira, Vt., in 1770; Benoni Collins came to Ira in 1786, and his father, Thomas Collins, 3d, came earlier. Christopher Foster and family came over in the same ship with the Collins and Masons. The Collins in that ship were listed as follows: "Henry Collins, (age) 29 yrs., starch maker; Uxor," (wife), "Anne Collins, 30 yrs.; 3 children: Henry Collins, 5 yrs., Joe Collins, 3 yrs., Margery Collins, 2 yrs.; June 30, in Ship Abigail, and five servants." This family may have been the first of the Collins to arrive and settle in this country. [From Mr. Otis Ashmore's Notes of Information given by his father-in-law, Mr. Wm. H. Collins, formerly of Ira, Vt., and great-grandson of THOMAS COLLINS, 3d]. See "Vital Records of Rhode Island," Warwick, 1636-1850; also "Lineage of Hoyt Post," of Detroit, Mich. (whose mother was a Collins), 1908.

COLLINS GENEALOGY

From about 1600 to the present time.

NOTE.—The first three Generations here following are reported as (probably) authentic. The Henry Collins who came from London in 1635, had a wife “Anne,” and children. What relation he was to the “Ann” here next following seems uncertain.
